Scheme Behind Tito Junkets

CPYRGHT

WASHINGTON — A grandiose scheme is behind those mysterious comings and goings of Marshal Tito.

It's nothing less than launching a new Socialist international.

In talks with foreign diplomats the Yugoslav ruler is describing it as a "new international socialist unity grouping of nations."

His ambitious idea is apparently to set up some kind of loosely-knit organization that would include Communist as well as Socialist parties from all sides of the world struggle. That is, it would be composed of these parties in the West, Russia and Red China and their satellites, and from those in the so-called "neutral" countries. China and their satellites, and from those in the so-called "neutral" countries.

India's participation is particularly to be sought.

Special emphasis is also to be put on winning the adherence of the powerful socialist parties in Italy, where there has long been an alliance with the Reds, in France and other NATO powers.

The proposal has already been broached to some Socialist groups.

It was discussed at length with a delegation from Norway, during Soviet Communist Party boss Khrushchev's recent "social" visit to Yugoslavia. The Norwegian Socialists were given to understand that the real purpose of the Kremlin czar's trip was to consider Tito's far-reaching plan.

Its general concept was warmly approved by Khrushchev.

But after acclaiming it as history-making and promising hearty support, the Russian balked on key details.

Yes — But!

That's the reason Tito accompanied Khrushchev back home.

The latter offered to summon to Yalta various satellite leaders who had not yet made their peace with the Communist party. But he personally put his scheme up to Foremost among them was Erno Gero, boss of the Communist Party in Hungary, who wields as much power in that country as Tito does in his. A veteran Kremlin hatchetman with a long record of gory deeds in the Spanish civil war, Czechoslovakia, East Germany and other Red victims, Gero was one of the fiercest defamers of Tito when he defied Stalin.

Their meeting under Khrushchev's "comradely" auspices was the first since their tenuous feud.

Two main disagreements between Tito and Khrushchev are over the following:

1. The Yugoslav's insistence on a freer hand in organizing the proposed international than the Kremlin czars want to allow him.

2. Their reluctance to permit all the satellites to immediately join the new organization. The Soviet masters want this to be done on a "gradual" basis; that is, to start with Hungary and one or two other satellites where their domination is complete, and the others to become members "later".

These basic differences remain unsettled.

So do other issues involving the Middle East, military and economic aid that Yugoslavia is receiving from the U.S., and certain far-reaching ideological policies, such as Tito's demand that every country have the right to institute its own "Marxian program" without Soviet meddling and obstruction.

Kremlin designs on India are graphically revealed in an extraordinary document obtained in that country.

It's a letter from Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov sternly admonishing a high-ranking Indian Communist that the party there must do nothing to hamper his country from being drawn closer into the Soviet's orbit.

"Party irritations that may cause difficulties for our diplomatic operations are not to be countenanced," warned Shepilov.

Premier Nehru has been apprized of the contents of these secret Red orders.

NOTE: Central Intelligence Director Allen Dulles, who is completing a world tour, has uncovered new evidence regarding the proposed "united front" international.

Nicaraguan Plot

Death is being plotted for assassinated President Somoza's son and successor Luis.

In fact, Somoza's other son, Anastasio, is also marked for murder.

The same fate is likewise slated for other Somoza leaders, chief among them Major Jose Somoza and Col. Camilo Gonzalez close lieutenants of the slain Nicaraguan president.

U. S. authorities have warned all of them of this desperate conspiracy.

The Nicaraguan ambassador, his family and staff also have been placed under round-the-clock FBI and police protection.

These extraordinary precautions have been taken on the basis of positive information that at least two conspirators' meetings have been held in the U.S. in the past ten days; one in an eastern city and the other in California.

The participants included Nicaraguans, other Latin Americans, and U. S. citizens.

Several of the plotters are suspected Reds.

At the eastern meeting it was claimed that elements of the Nicaraguan military are secretly working with the conspiring "liberators".

One of the U. S. citizens is a former serviceman. His mission is to assist in organizing revolt among the Nicaraguan military, particularly the air force. All Nicaragua's armed forces are American trained and equipped.

The plot in general is to slay the Somoza brothers, who now head the government, and their capital, on the theory its domination would lead to speedy capitulation by the rest of the country.

Funds for the plotters and arms-buying are being raised in the U.S.

Several thousand dollars was pledged at the California meeting.

NOTE: Nicaragua's longtime Ambassador in Washington is slated to become dean of the diplomatic corps when Norway's veteran Ambassador Wilhelm de Morgenstjerne retires for age next year. The Nicaraguan Ambassador's rank in seniority of service in Washington.
